

*This dimension is recommended dimension without cutting the riser. The installer should make the final decision depending on the onsite situation.